MR. LEWIS COMES HOME TO ROOST

With the possible exception of Charles A. Lindbergh, the year's most criticized American male citizen at this writing is John L. Lewis. But words are not going to do any damage to Mr. Lewis. The harder they come the better he likes them. For years he has been diverting criticism to his own use, with the result that he is the country's most powerful labor leader—and powerful where it counts most, which is among the dues-paying members of his own union, the United Mine Workers. The more Mr. Lewis is criticized, it seems, the more his followers like him.

It is a fact that he is taking a long chance this time by driving at the jugular vein of defense production to get what he wants—a union shop in the coal mines owned and operated by steel corporations. The steel industry has resisted the union shop type of organization successfully throughout the century. If Mr. Lewis could make a breach in the industry's solid front to the so-called closed shop principle, he would have regained all the prestige he lost last year when he failed to lead his followers into the Wilkie camp.

Furthermore, he would have struck the opening blow in a campaign patiently being organized behind the scenes to force the whole steel industry into accepting the union shop principle. It is something no union leader has come close to doing, though many, including Mr. Lewis, have dreamed of doing it some day. But the question is, does Mr. Lewis have the right to place such an ambition ahead of the national need for continuous and uninterrupted production of steel?

The only way the work stoppage in the coal mines can be ended is for the government, in behalf of defense production, to bring sufficient pressure on the steel industry to make it do a thing it never would do of its own volition. The government might seize the industry, as it did only recently in the case of Kearny Ship Building and Drydock Co., a subsidiary of United States Steel Corp. Mr. Lewis would have proved himself able to get what he wanted at the expense of both the government and the steel industry.

At the moment, the prevailing tendency is to say mean things about Mr. Lewis, but here and there a few persons with longer-than-average memories recall that the New Deal was warned many years ago that sooner or later it would have reason to question the wisdom of giving its official blessing to men whom it could not expect to control.

LAND OF CHALLENGE

President Roosevelt's Navy day speech shows how far he has come since his ill-advised remark after the high-seas conference with Prime Minister Churchill that the United States was getting no closer to war. The President now admits what long has been plain to everybody but the wishful thinkers—that the United States already is in the war.

When it is over, as it will be one day, the second guessers will go to work in much the same way that they performed their post-mortem after the World War. They will discover, and a war-weary generation will believe, that the United States got into the war because of wholly unworthy motives. Everything about the experience will be depicted as sordid and unworthy.

Perhaps it is enough that now, before the second guessers have started, Americans still can understand what Mr. Roosevelt means when he calls the United States a "land of endless challenge" and says he believes it is responding to the newest and greatest challenge of the day, which is Adolf Hitler's bid for the supremacy of his ideas.

Americans think their ideas are better. They think their right to advance their ideas is stronger than Germany's right. They think they are going to finish what they have started in a way they will be proud of. They think that for the second time in the 20th century they are going to restrain German arrogance in dealing with other peoples. Whatever may happen later, these intentions are creditable. Whether posterity chooses to honor them or not, they were the motive for America's refusal to surrender its dignity to authoritarianism.

JAPANESE ISOLATION

If the "war cabinet" in Washington will mind its own business, says the Japanese American Review, using more tactful expressions than that, Japan can stick to its isolation and everything will end happily. The Review says in the same edition that while Washington was "surprised" at the Japanese cabinet shift elevating Gen. Hideki Tojo to the premiership, Berlin was "shocked," because the Nazis wanted a fire-eater and got a moderate. "Tokyo," comments the Review, "despite the successes of her Nazi partner in Europe and Russia, evidently did not intend to make the mistake of Italy by guessing that the war in Europe was as good as over."

While it must be borne in mind that the purpose of this publication is to cultivate good feeling toward Japan in the United States, it seems of more than passing importance that Japan's recent political shift is being interpreted as a rebuff to Germany by the Japanese, themselves. In fact, it seems of more than passing importance that Japan still is trying to cultivate good feeling in the United States at all; judged by what its fire-eaters have been saying Japan officially was terminating good feeling. But the United States has its fire-eaters, too, and they do not necessarily speak for anybody but themselves.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, November 3.

A DAY in which unusual or brilliant performance may be expected to give sudden or unforeseen benefit is read from very interesting planetary aspects, genuinity, rare skill, unusual tactics or audacious ways of stimulating outworn methods, backed up by profound insight, sound analysis and hard work should foster unusual programs or adventures. But these are subject to snares, trickery, intrigues or subtle pitfalls. Careless or erratic conduct may prove a defeating factor.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of some unusual, possibly brilliant or spectacular performance or accomplishment, with a sudden flare of genius or exceptional inventive skill, perhaps in a completely original field. But be alert to fraud or duplicity aimed at illicit involvements or loss of prestige or profits. Avoid rash moves, excitement or emotional or nervous strain.

A child born on this day will have exceptional talents and inventive genius as well as sound and practical principles, insight and intuitions. It may have occult leanings.

STALIN'S "LEAP FROG" FACTORIES

By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT.

Today's dispatches from the Volga and from Moscow permit a short but sharp glimpse at one of the primary reasons why the Red armies defending the Red capital can stand today and even fight back under conditions which are fact approaching those of Verdun.

Henry Cassidy, the Associated Press chief of bureau in Russia, tells the story of one of Stalin's "leap frog" factories. This one was uprooted from the Ukrainian capital of Kiev shortly after the German-Russian war started and moved bodily to the Volga river country, a distance of perhaps 800 miles, where in September it doubled its Kiev output.

The censor does not permit Cassidy to say what the factory is making, but it is safe to guess that this plant and its brother "leapfrogs" from Moscow, Leningrad, Kharkov and other industrial cities now threatened or actually captured by the Germans are turning out the tanks, the shells and the guns which still are killing Nazis outside Moscow—three weeks after Hitler's propagandists said that "final" battle of the year was over.

This morning's early Moscow communique tells too, the story of Kharkov, captured Donets basin city where the empty rooms of blackened factories laugh hollowly at the German army of occupation.

The communique says: "Kharkov has been left by our troops for strategic considerations at a time when the Soviet command deemed it expedient and not when the Germans wanted. During this period (September and most of October) all the most important factories and plants, railway rolling stock, raw material stores and other valuables were evacuated from the town in time."

MEASURING CURRENTS IN BRAIN

One of Most Fascinating Studies in Modern Science

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

One of the most fascinating studies of modern medical research is the discovery that the brain is the seat of continuous electric currents which can be measured, and which vary with different states of consciousness.

We have known for a long time that impulses along nerves are electrical. It is believed that there is a row of positive ions on the outside of a nerve membrane and a row of negative ions on the inside.

another type of waves with a frequency of 25 to 35, the beta waves.

While you are resting, quietly, with the eyes closed, thinking of nothing, the record shows alpha waves. If you are asked a question and you open your eyes and answer it, the alpha waves are displaced by beta waves, and then if you relax again, the alpha waves come back. If someone gives you a problem in mental arithmetic the record shows nothing but beta waves.

Already these records are being used in practical medicine. The brain waves of an epileptic are very different from those of a normal person. New fields in every department of psychology and

When an impulse goes along the nerve, no matter whether initiated by electricity or heat, or cold, or volition of the will, the galvanometer records deflections which probably represent ions passing through the membrane and neutralizing the ions on the other side. It is like the burning of a powder fuse, but unlike the fuse, the nerve has the remarkable faculty of restoring itself, replacing the ions, and in a little time as 0.001 of a second, because it will conduct another impulse after that interval.

Measuring Brain Waves

Brain waves can be measured by very delicate electric recording instruments. Small metal plates are attached to the outside of the scalp and are connected by wires to a powerful electric amplifier. The amplifier strengthens the brain currents enough to make them work a recording device which writes the waves with a pen on a moving sheet of paper.

To get such a record, the electric brain waves must be amplified to thousands of times, so the brain waves themselves are very feeble, and to record them, the person whose waves are being measured must be screened in from all outside electrical disturbances.

Every person can be shown to have brain waves that differ in character from every other person. So your brain autograph is just as characteristic as your penmanship or your finger prints which certainly is reasonable.

Basic Waves

Everyone, however, has certain basic waves in common. The most prominent waves have a frequency of 9 to 12 vibrations per second and are known as alpha waves. Concentrated thinking brings on

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

D. G.: "My grandson, 10 months old, can't sit up alone. Is something wrong, or is he just slow?"

Answer: Eight months is the standard time for a child to sit up and ten months to bear the weight on the feet, but there are wide variations in this. No need to worry about your grandson's slowness if he appears healthy.

Girl Scout Troops Observe Founding of National Group

National Girl Scout week, which honors the birthday of Juliette Gordon Low, founder of Girl Scouting in the United States, is being observed this week, with the nation's defense as its central theme.

Girl Scouts in all sections of the country are making important contributions to national defense and the local troop members are carrying out their own program.

Scout officials point out that: "The motto of the Girl Scouts is 'Be Prepared' and they are prepared to be useful citizens, to help others at all times, no matter what the emergency may be."

"Today, almost 700,000 strong, they are a vital part of our national defense. In hundreds of cities, towns, and villages in all parts of the United States, their scout training serves America."

"Our government has said many times that good food and good health are basic to national defense. Homemaking and health are important parts of Girl Scouting. Over 100,000 girls earned proficiency badges in these fields last year. Girls select low-cost foods with good nutritive values, prepare meals, plan well-balanced budgets for families of various sizes. They do their cooking and homemaking out-of-doors as well as indoors, with primitive equipment as well as in modern kitchens. Girl Scouts make the most of what they have."

"America has received many recent immigrants, believers in democracy who need to learn our ways so that they may help us in the struggle for freedom. Girl Scout troops and camps help refugee children to adjust themselves and start them on the road to active citizenship."

Because war has made them off from many of their contacts with girls in Europe they have worked for friendship among the Americas. For two successive years, girls from North, Central, and South America have come to Western Hemisphere Encampments in this country as guests of the Girl Scouts of the United States. From these gatherings the delegates have returned home to share their experiences, to foster better understanding, and to aid in the defense of our common American heritage of freedom."

Didn't Take Much Persuasion For Him To Try Ton Jon Since He Hadn't Realized Benefits From Other Medicines

Was So Badly Constipated That It Was Necessary for Him to take Laxatives Every Night. His Sister Induced Him to Try TONJON and After Using It 6 Weeks, Feels Better in Every Way.

"It seemed that costly medicines and special treatments didn't do me much good, so it didn't take a lot of persuasion for me to try TONJON," stated Mr. F. M. Pless, R. R. No. 4, Lisbon, Ohio, near Salem.
"I have endured a great deal of misery in the past 10 months due to several disorders in my system. I was badly constipated and unless I took a laxative every night, my bowels refused to act. I often experienced intense headaches and I didn't sleep any too well. When I'd awaken in the morning my tongue would be coated and my breath as well as the taste in my mouth were terrible. After I ate, my stomach would fill with gas affecting acid rising, severe cramps and shortness of breath. I always felt so tired and nervous I could hardly bear it."
"My sister asked me to try TONJON just to see if it would help me and since I have taken it for about six weeks, I feel better in every way. My bowels are regular

CHILDREN'S HOME ASKS PUBLIC AID

Trustees Ask Support of Two-Mill County Levy On Tuesday

the next three months. An adequate budget must also be set up for next year's requirements.
It is pleasing to note that all parties to this controversy agree that Fairmount Children's home is the most economically operated institution of its kind and capacity in the State of Ohio. They also agree the children are well fed and probably the healthiest group gathered together anywhere in the state. They also agree our children have received one hundred cents value for every dollar spent on them by the county.
"And in view of these facts, the trustees wish to point out to the voting public that unless you provide a means of raising the money by voting for the levy, there will be no money to pay for the care of these children, who are your charges and your responsibility."
Asks Bare Necessities
"And remember, Mr. and Mrs. Voter, we are only asking for the bare necessities of life. The antiquated laws governing institutions like Fairmount Children's home provide for the levying of money for the bare necessities of life only, and anything they receive above the bare necessities comes to them through the benevolence of the kindly disposed public.
"These things which have brought these children to your notice from time to time, such as their athletics and their uniformed band have never cost you as a taxpayer a single penny. Neither are we pleading for salaries or expenses for the trustees, for there are none. And what I have said for Fairmount Children's home goes for the old folks home at Lisbon and for the blind pensions and all of your dependency obligations.
"No doubt all this has a sentimental appeal to you, but this plea is not based on sentiment, but it is based on cold, hard facts that it is your obligation to feed these helpless ones and the only way they can be fed is for you to provide the money through the levy to be voted Nov. 4.
"We must insure the welfare of these children who will one day come back to live among us as fellow citizens, by voting for this two mill levy. There is no other way under the law you can secure this money in time for their needs.
"Vote for the levy, then make sure the money is properly expended."

BUILDERS STUDY "POUNDAGE PLAN"

New Method of Computing Priorities On Metal Is Devised

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Oct. 30.—Ohio construction interests are sounding out sentiment for a "poundage plan" of computing priorities-restricted metal for home construction as a substitute for the $5,000 marketing maximum established by the office of production management.

Ralph C. Kempton, secretary of the Architects' Society of Ohio, said his organization had been asked to help sponsor a Columbus meeting of contractors, material dealers, building and loan officials and others similar to a recent Youngstown session at which the new plan was acclaimed.

Submitted to OPM
The poundage plan was devised by Leo F. Heller, executive secretary of the Youngstown Builders association, and submitted to Donald M. Nelson, OPM priorities director in Washington.
Heller calls for limitations on poundages of metals used, instead of the present $5,000 top for the estimated market price of privately owned houses to obtain preference ratings for construction in defense areas.

Since the $5,000 maximum includes cost of the lot, Heller contends that the restriction works a hardship on builders operating on high-priced lots whereas considerably more metal could be used in a house built on cheap land.

The Youngstown man said his program encourages substitutions for metal such as:

Tile for cast iron drain pipe, solid timber of built-up forms for steel I beams, brick or wood for steel pipe columns in basements, galvanized steel instead of copper piping plastic decorative hardware for brass or nickel plated metals, and the like.

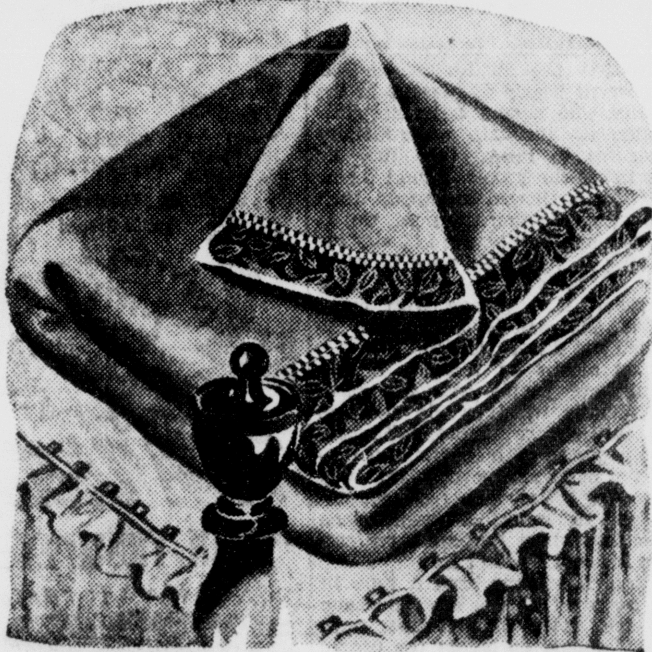

Set Rental Ceiling
In addition to the marketing maximum for singles, the OPM has placed a $50-a-month unit rental top on multiple dwellings in defense areas as a requirement for preference ratings.

Ohio defense areas have been established at Akron, Canton, Massillon, Alliance, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton, Hamilton, Middletown, Lorain, Elyria, Ravenna, Warren, Sandusky, Sidney, Springfield, Steubenville, Toledo and Youngstown.

Defense housing qualifications include: reasonable commuting distance from place of employment, construction primarily for defense workers and the marketing and rental limitations.

Experts estimate government purchases of office machines this year will total about $100,000,000, or one-third of all office machine sales.

MORGENTHAU GUNS FOR 'EXTRA' MONEY

Security Tax boost to "Mop Up" Anything Left In People's Pockets

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau announced today a program of steep increases in social security taxes would be ready for congressional consideration within the next two months.

He declined to give proposed new rates, but disclosed at a press conference that the size of the increases would be geared definitely to mop up the extra money in people's pockets for which there will not be goods to buy.

In some authoritative circles it has been reported Morgenthau favors increasing the employee's old-age pension tax from 1 per cent to 5 per cent of his pay check. Morgenthau, however, said he was "not satisfied yet with the plans and not ready to give out figures."

The steepness of the proposed increase was emphasized by Morgenthau when he related that he and Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt had agreed that the new tax rate should be based, not so much on the actual needs of the social security program, but upon the need of the government to prevent inflation and also to finance the defense program.

Theatre Attractions

Fred Astaire has a new dancing and romancing partner in Rita Hayworth, who is co-starred with the dancer in "You'll Never Get Rich," showing at the State tonight, Friday and Saturday.

Others in the cast of the musical are Robert Benchley, John Hubbard, Osa Massen, and Frieda Inescort.

The story follows the adventures of a Broadway dancing star who joins the army to escape the matrimony-minded Rita Hayworth. He believes the army a safe refuge until he discovers that she is in the camp as the guest of an officer who is a friend of her family.

Cole Porter's music, Broadway Bob Alton's dance routines and the sparkling performances of the cast make the picture an outstanding musical comedy.

Two features are offered at the Grand tonight, Friday and Saturday. The first is a mystery-comedy, "Spooks Run Wild," with Bela Lugosi, Leo Gorcey, Hunt Hall, Bobby Jordan and David Gorcey; and a western action drama, "Ton-ton Basin Outlaws," featuring Ray Corrigan, John King and Max Terhune as the Range Busters.

REDS ROLL BACK GERMAN ATTACKS

Report Nazis thrown across Nara River, Reversed Near Rostov

The south bank under heavy fire. Slowed down in their land offensive against Moscow, the Germans sent more than 300 planes in a mass assault on the U. S. S. R. capital yesterday, the Soviet radio said.

Claim 39 Planes Downed
"It was the biggest attack carried out so far but was exactly as unsuccessful as all previous raids," the radio declared, adding that 39 Nazi planes, a record, were shot down.

Big-scale aerial attacks on Moscow have been underway for several days, it was reported.

Adolf Hitler's high command, silent on operations around Moscow, asserted that German troops were now swarming into the upper Donets river industrial basin on a broad front.

On the lower reaches of the Donets, however, the Russians claimed they had stopped the Nazi onslaught, that picked detachments of Hitler's elite guards massed around Rostov "have been marking time for several days," and that German tanks were being used as stationary fortresses in an attempt to hold gains.

While the Germans advanced in the north, in the Kharkov sector, it was apparent that Soviet Marshal Semyon Timoshenko was making a supreme stand to defend Rostov and thus prevent the Nazi armies from turning the Rostov "corner" southward into the Caucasus.

In the Crimea, where the invaders forced a break-through after 10 days of violent assault, the Nazi high command said Russian rearward resistance had been shattered and that German forces were "relentlessly on the heels of the defeated enemy."

Report Prisoners Taken
Several thousand more Soviet prisoners were taken, the high command said, as Nazi troops pushed on across age-old Crimean battlefields toward Russia's big Black sea naval base at Sevastopol, 100 miles south.

A bulletin from Hitler's east front headquarters gave no specific details of the advance into the upper Donets basin, where the Germans had already captured Kharkov, Russia's "Pittsburgh of the Ukraine."

Soviet dispatches, conceding the fall of Kharkov, declared that in taking the city the Germans had lost nearly 120,000 killed and wounded, 450 tanks, 3,000 trucks and 200 guns.

Around the key Don river port of Rostov, gateway to the Caucasus oil fields, the Russians said they were stubbornly resisting all Nazi attempts at a break-through.

"Our units are gradually strengthening and improving their positions," the Moscow radio said, referring to the Rostov front.

Italians Halted
In the Stalino sector, 100 miles north of Rostov, Germany's Italian allies acknowledged they had been halted by Russian counter-attacks and added that they had not been given "a moment's peace and rest in eight days"—as reported by Stefani, the official Italian news agency.

On the central front, it seemed clear that the German armies were stalled for the moment if not actually losing ground in the 29-day-old drive on Moscow.

OUR READERS
HEALTH LEAGUE PLEA

Editor, The News:
Eighteen years ago the Columbiana County Public Health league was organized to promote adequate provision for the prevention of disease. From the funds raised through the sale of Christmas seals, the organization has followed the policy of encouraging and supporting the organized local official health and education work for the prevention of disease with particular reference to tuberculosis.

During these years the public officials have cooperated by making available the necessary funds for the hospitalization and adequate isolation of persons with open, active tuberculosis. But, for the year 1941 the appropriation for the care of the tuberculous was cut by fifteen thousand dollars and the board of trustees of the Health league have been informed that next year there will be an additional reduction.

This reduction, in spite of the fact that the Health league has discovered nearly 50 persons in the county who should have hospitalization or adequate precautionary measures to insure that they do not infect the people around them.

If this is allowed to happen, then instead of meeting the need, we, in Columbiana county, are actually returning to where we were 20 years ago. It costs more to you, as a taxpayer, if a person with open, active tuberculosis is allowed to spread his disease to others.

This means an increase in the number of people who will have tuberculosis which would increase the future cost of hospitalization. Also a person with tuberculosis discovered early and hospitalized early has a far better chance of recovering and resuming his normal place in society where he once more can earn his own livelihood.

There has never been a time in our history that the Health league has felt, more than it does now, that it should go before the people to ask for their support. Therefore, the Columbiana County Public Health league, in the interest of prevention of disease, urges you to do all in your power to increase the support of the welfare levy which is to come up for a vote on Tuesday, November 4.

COLUMBIANA COUNTY PUBLIC HEALTH LEAGUE

INCREASED DAIRY NEEDS EMPHASIZED

LISBON, Oct. 30.—Reasons for requesting an increase in dairy production in United States are to supply Great Britain, provide better nutrition at home and provide additional stocks for future uses, according to R. W. Armstrong, Elkton, member of the county farm defense committee, who discussed this subject at the hearing of the township committeemen held here recently.

Great Britain needs a quantity of dairy supplies equivalent to 30 per cent of our output of cheese, 25 per cent of our canned milk, and about 40 per cent of our dried skim milk, he said. Dairy exports will be increased under the lend-lease act 10 or 11 times greater than in 1940. Domestic production in Britain has been greatly reduced because of feed shortage, Armstrong says.

Children 12 years of age and under are the only persons in Britain permitted to use milk and use of cream for ice cream is prohibited. Imports from the low countries have been cut off and shipments from New Zealand and Australia have been greatly reduced through shipping losses.

ARSONIST BLAMED IN COLUMBUS FIRE

COLUMBUS, Oct. 30.—Flames attributed to an arsonist today destroyed five warehouses and rumbled 3,000,000 board feet of hardwood lumber at a plant which helps supply the Curtiss-Wright airplane plant and the U. S. army storage depot.

T. D. Bates, assistant manager of the H. H. Giesy & Bros. company, estimated the loss between $150,000 and $200,000.

Fire Chief Ed Welch said firemen discovered that the fire had been deliberately started. Three bushels of "nests" of cellulose material, paper, shavings and kindling were found. One had burned, one had partly burned and the other did not catch fire, he added.

The Giesy company is a wholesaler and supplies lumber through retail dealers to the airplane plant and government depot, Bates said.

Materials from the fire "nests" were taken to the police laboratory for analysis.
